He's weird, he's famous and he's coming soon in Fort Myers.

Hollywood actor/director Crispin Hellion Glover — best known as George McFly From the "Back to the Future" movies — will appear Friday, July 10, at Florida SouthWestern State College.

As part of the ongoing ArtSPEAK@FSW series, the famously odd actor will perform a one-hour narrative reading/slide show of his illustrated books, screen his most recent movie "It Is Fine! EVERYTHING IS FINE," answer questions from the audience, meet fans and sign copies of his books.

The event is free and takes place at 7 p.m. at Rush Library Auditorium on the FSW campus before moving to the Bob Rauschenberg Gallery.

Funded and co-directed by Glover, "It Is Fine!" is described as part horror movie, part exploitation picture and part documentary. It focuses on late actor/screenwriter Steven C. Stewart, who suffered from severe cerebral palsy and was unable to adequately express his sexuality.

Glover, 51, has been acting since age 13. His acting credits include the "Back to the Future" movies, "River's Edge," "The Doors," "Dead Man," "Alice in Wonderland" and "Even Cowgirls Get the Blues."

Seating at the July 10 event will be available on a first-come, first-served basis. Due to adult nature of the show's content, no one younger than 18 years old will be admitted.
